The Babbling Bruch

God give me What's in your heart?

"Beloved sons" abound in this Sunday's readings, and God is moving in big ways around them. In the end Abraham did not have to sacrifice his beloved son - though he was willing to - but either way it's a harrowing story. Saint Paul invokes a God whose support for us is vouchsafed in the handing over of God's own Son, thereby causing our fears to crumble. And once again we hear, "This is my beloved Son," a "secret" too great to be kept entirely hidden.

Have I ever had to sacrifice something dear to me for a greater good? How did this sacrifice enrich my relationship with God? As much as anything, today's scripture is about faith - willingness to follow God's command, really believing God is for us, gradually coming to realize glory will also involve the cross. Do I respond to God's call as readily as Abraham? Does strength? Am I willing to walk the road of suffering in order to reach true fulfillment?

The health issues I have been experiencing continue to improve daily and hopefully I will be up and running soon, in the meantime I'm taking it one day at a time. Your prayers for continued healing are very much appreciated! - Fr. Jim
