Grieving: how do we do that well?

Both Sacred Heart Parish and St. Malachy's Parishes are working on forming a committee to assist people when there is a loss in their lives. Information will be soon forthcoming on when and where these gatherings will take place.

People grieve whenever there is a loss in our lives. We realize we are getting older, our baby goes to kindergarten, our daughter/son is graduating, a loved one has died, our pet cat/dog has died, and that list can go on and on. Some time ago some professional people gave an overall sketch of some of the stages of grief: denial, bargaining, anger, depression, acceptance and finally reaching out to others.

While some experience these feelings and think they have dealt with it, many times it returns and the loss continues to affect our lives and moods. Friends assist this in many ways: taking time to have coffee with someone who has just suffered a loss - just to give them time to reminisce and talk about their memories. So many times people think they are the only ones who feel the way they do, and start to question their value and worth, and many question whether they will ever feel happiness again.

With the changes going on in our church and parishes, all of us are aware of losing something so dear to our lives that these very feelings are expressed in many ways. For some the grief is seemingly unbearable, and anything to fill the void and sadness and emptiness become options.

As we take one day at a time, I hope we all take some time to get in touch with how we are handling our experience of loss and change. Blaming others is a dead end road, okay for a time but not healing in the long run.

In Mathews Gospel Jesus says " your heavenly Father knows what you need before you ask him. Each time we gather and call to mind the love God showed us by asking His Son to suffer and die that we might possess eternal life, we are asked to trust such love. I find it a glaring invitation to grow and truly confess that Jesus Christ is Lord of my life: not ourselves, or some other decision maker, and follow the advice of that great lover Jesus: When you pray, go to your room and talk to your Father. Trust Him and thank him.

Special Intentions

From the very beginnings of the Church, it was customary for the faithful to donate the bread and wine to be used in the celebration of the Holy Eucharist. In time, offerings of money were substituted for the actual bread and wine. Money given in excess of what was necessary for the procuring of the bread and wine was used to assist the poor and, eventually, to support the clergy. Thus, it became customary for the priest to accept from the faithful a donation (formerly called a "stipend") in return for remembering a specific intention in the celebration of a Mass. Through this voluntary offering, the donor seeks spiritual benefits that God may bestow upon the persons or concerns that are specially held in prayer at the Mass. What is more, the Code of Canon Law (canon 946) notes that the donor himself benefits: "Christ's faithful who make an offering so that Mass can be celebrated for their intention contribute to the good of the Church, and by that offering they share in the Church's concern for the support of its ministers and its activities."

When a priest accepts a Mass stipend, he sets up a contract with that person to pray for their intention at a specific Mass. The priest contracts to pray for that intention specifically, but that does not nor can it preclude him from also praying for other intentions as well, but he can only receive one Mass stipend for each Mass offered. Stipends for additional intentions must be given to charity.

When parishioners request Mass intentions for a specific date we will make every effort to schedule those Masses on or as close to the date as possible. By leaving your name and contact information with your request, it allows us to contact you to make other arrangements in the event that this is not possible.

Beginning July 1, 2018 the standard offering for one Mass intention will increase from $5 to $10. All requests made prior to July 1st will be honored at the $5.00 rate.

Fr. Clems Retirement Mass will be held on July 1 @10:30 am at Holy Family Church in Emmetsburg , Iowa. Reception will follow Mass.
